Merton Dean Wells.

The funeral of Col. M. D. Wells, who died suddenly Thursday, Sept. 9, was held at the home in Cabot Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The attendance of over 300 friends and relatives was an eloquent testimonial of the esteem in which Col. Wells was held, not alone in his home town, but wherever he was known.

The services were conducted by Rev. W. T. Sparhawk, pastor of the Congregational church, assisted by Rev. F. E. Currier of the Methodist church, who offered the prayer. During the services a quartette of stringed instruments rendered softly many of Col. Wells' favorite hymns. Although brief, the eloquent words of the clergymen, the music and the mass of flowers from individuals and from organizations of which Col. Wells was a member, all contributed to render the services most impressive.

The bearers were Col. Wells' associates in business, H. C. Rogers and Forrest St. John of Cabot, George O. Boyles of Montpelier and H. M. Drennon of St. Albans. G. J. Hawes had charge of the arrangements. At the grave, to which a long procession of teams and individuals on foot followed, the remains, the services consisted of a responsive reading by the two clergymen and the benediction.

Among the people from out of town who attended the funeral on Monday were George C. Crosby of Boston, ex-Gov. C. J. Bell and family of Walden, Col. F. S. Billings of Woodstock, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Howard of Craftsbury, Col. and Mrs. T. C. Fletcher, W. A. Ricker and Mrs. Henry Benjamin, Mr. and Mrs. Ryland F. Drennon, Mr. F. G. Howland, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitcomb, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Gray and daughter, Mrs. Pierman, Mrs. M. Elta Connors, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clark and Mrs. Harry Ford of Barre, Mr. and Mrs. George O. Boyles, Wilford Colton, Mr. and Mrs. Ryland F. Drennon, Mr. W. L. Goodale and Morris Nelson of Montpelier, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stocker, Peter Wesson and Asa Wesson of Danville, Mrs. Ellen Briggs and William Briggs of Williamstown, Dr. and Mrs. Gale of Plainfield, Miss Emma Laird of Walstead, Mrs. Ethan Ainsworth, Guy Chadwick, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Benjamin, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Benjamin, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Goodell and Henry Wade of Woodbury, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bliss of Calais, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Kimball and a delegation from Hiram Chapter, R. A. M. of Hardwick.

On Sunday memorial services for Col. Wells were held at the Congregational church of which he had been a life-long member, serving for years as organist and for a time as superintendent of the Sunday school. The service offered an opportunity for an expression of the almost universal sorrow of the community.

The decorations of the church were very simple, the organ being heavily draped in black with a profusion of beautiful flowers in front of the pulpit. The attendance taxed the seating capacity of the church to its utmost, chairs being placed in aisles to accommodate the large numbers who wished by their presence to show their respect for the deceased.

The pastor of the church, Rev. W. T. Sparhawk, presided at the services, assisted by Rev. F. T. Blodgett of East Center, a boyhood friend of Col. Wells. From clergy and laymen alike came testimonials of the character and manly worth of Col. Wells, of the loss sustained by the community in the taking away of such a man in the prime of life and of the genuine sorrow which filled every heart.

Following the pastors ex-Gov. C. J. Bell of Walden, ex-Gov. Moses Haynes, O. P. Barrett, superintendent of the Congregational Sunday school, Dr. L. W. Jurbank, W. B. Lance and Lafayette Myers voiced briefly their appreciation of Col. Wells in words of the sincerity of which could not be doubted. All in all, the services were a splendid tribute marked by an absence of all perfume, formality and by a genuineness that could not fail to leave a deep impression upon all who were present.

Merton Dean Wells, only son of the late Hiram and Melissa Pease Wells, was born in Woodbury March 12, 1862. When four years old he came with his parents to Cabot, where his father entered into the mercantile business, becoming in later years one of the most prominent citizens of the town. He received his early education in the schools of the town and later, after a four years course at St. Johnsbury academy, upon completing his school education he entered his father's store as clerk and in 1889, when his father retired from active business, he succeeded to his interest in the firm of Wells & Rogers.

Mr. Wells continued in the mercantile business until his death, being at the time a member of the firm of Wells & Rogers in Cabot, the firm of Wells & Boyles in Montpelier and of Wells & Remman in St. Albans.

Mr. Wells was also interested in banking and was one of the board of directors of the Caledonia National bank of Danville.

Always active in town affairs he served as town clerk for eight years, succeeding his father in that important office. In 1902 he was elected town representative and in 1904 one of the senators from Washington county. The same year he was appointed by Gov. Bell a member of his staff. In 1906 Col. Wells was a prominent candidate for the office of state treasurer, but a serious injury sustained by being thrown from a team compelled him to retire from the canvass at a time when his prospects for success seemed bright.

October 17, 1889 he married L. Gertrude, only daughter of Dr. S. L. and Scrapsie Crosby Wiswell, who with two daughters, Marjorie L., a student at St. Johnsbury academy and Edith M., a member of the Cabot high school, survive. Col. Wells is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Carl C. Fletcher of Scotland.

Col. Wells was a member of Green Mountain lodge, No. 68, F. and A. M. of Green Mountain chapter, No. 35, O. E. S., and of Cabot lodge, No. 49, I. O. F., of Cabot and of Hiram chapter, R. A. M., of Hardwick.

Col. Wells had always enjoyed excellent health until his accident in 1906 since which time his condition has given those nearest him some uneasiness. He was slightly indisposed for the two days preceding his death, but his condition was not at all serious. On Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock he suffered a severe attack in the nature of a shock and died about 9 o'clock that evening. The attending physicians were of the opinion that death was caused by a blood clot from the brain producing paralysis of the heart arteries.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

"The House of a Thousand Candles" Monday Night.

Among books, "The House of a Thousand Candles" is looked upon as the best seller. Among plays "The House of a Thousand Candles" is undoubtedly one of the best drawing cards the stage has ever known. On its presentation at the opera house on Next Monday night its mysterious rooms and odd surroundings will be mounted in a most elaborate manner, as the complete production is carried. The company has been carefully selected so that all the unusual characters that add so much to the interest, will be most artistically drawn. Tickets are now on sale for the "House of a Thousand Candles" at the opera house next Monday night.

One of the most important dramatic events of the season at the opera house will be the engagement on Thursday, September 23 of Mr. Paul Gilmore and his company in "The Call of the North" reputed to be one of the most convincing and faithful portrayals written of the rugged and picturesque characters and stirring events of life in the fur-trading territory of Canada, around Hudson Bay. It is a comedy-drama of the style in which the great dramatists of the past have written, its central character being a daring young adventurer who has trespassed upon forbidden territory to trade with the Indians, thus incurring the enmity of the ancient and powerful English hat held the monopoly on that rich wilderness for hundreds of years. The play is a dramatization of Stewart Edward White's wisely read novel, "Conjuror's House," and was written by George Broadhurst, author of "The Man of the Hour" and other successful high-class melodramas. As has been the case with Mr. Gilmore's former offerings, the production of "The Call of the North" is said to be most elaborate, artistic and unique.
